ODDBALL CADILLACS

BY RAY KOZIOL

This Cadillac was built by Bill Patch and was inspired by the Wayne Kemp song "One Piece At a Time" which was recorded by Johnny Cash in 1976. The song is about a man who goes to work on the Cadillac assembly line in 1949. Knowing he could never afford a new Cadillac he decides to build one of his own by stealing parts, a process which takes 24 years! How many different year parts can you identify?

This Cadillac is known as the Spa Car. This Eldorado has been stretched, given 4 additional wheels, a hot tub has been added which is located behind the rear window and behind the tub is a complete wet bar. It might be a wee-bit cumbersome to drive, but hey on a hot summer's day it will come in handy!

I've always thought of funeral directors as being quiet and reserved but it appears the one who commissioned this 1942 Cadillac hearse must have been a renegade. Believe it or not this was a "garage find" in Argentina. Maybe it should have been left there and allowed to "Rust in Peace".

It's only natural that Cadillac's and money go together, but not to this extent. These Cadillac's have had pennies glued to their sheet metal. It just doesn't make any cents! What were the owner's thinking? A penny for your thoughts!

A '58 Cadillac camper and a high-top Eldorado station wagon with 2 extra rear wheels. The only explanation.....some people have way too much free time on their hands.

Certainly not an oddball, but, this tank is a Cadillac. Now some refer to Cadillac's as a "tank", which I take as a compliment as they are big, heavy and powerful. In World War II Cadillac was also a hero as they built tanks such as the M24 pictured. It was jointly designed by both Cadillac and the US Army and powered by twin Cadillac V-8 engines.

IT'S THAT TIME OF THE YEAR AGAIN..... TIME TO RENEW YOUR REGION MEMBERSHIP

Our region membership year is July 1st to June 30th and time does fly by quickly! Our region renewal forms and ballot are being prepared and will be e-mailed shortly. As this is a major project requiring a great deal of record keeping PLEASE RENEW EARLY. In years gone by I've received renewals as late as October. These late renewals require extra effort and more importantly, they affect our region membership and retention numbers.

Your renewal package will include your renewal form and a ballot for our director's election. This year we have 3 openings on the board and three candidates. Although it is an uncontested election our region constitution requires we provide you with a ballot and the board requests that you vote. Both your completed renewal form and ballot, along with your check are to be mailed to our Post Office box. I've marked both the renewal form and ballot with a return date of no later than 6/13/2014, but as indicated above I would appreciate your returns as quickly as possible. Those renewals received after June 13th may or may not be processed by 6/30 which can result in a lapse of membership.

As in years gone by I have asked for you to provide your national CLC membership number. PLEASE BE SURE YOUR NATIONAL MEMBERSHIP IS CURRENT AT THE TIME OF YOUR RENEWAL. As you know we are a sanctioned region of the national Cadillac LaSalle Club. Region membership also requires membership within the national CLC. Each year our membership roster is audited and we risk the loss of our regional appointment if we are not 100% compliant with this requirement.

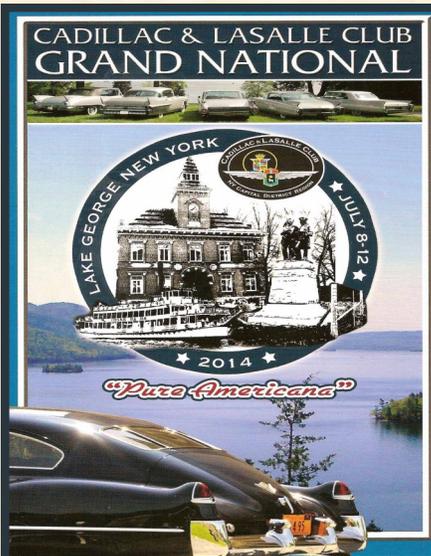

As is our policy, new members who have recently joined the region have automatically had their membership extended to 6/30/15. These members will receive a ballot, their renewal dues have been waived.

My thanks for your help and cooperation as our renewal program gets underway.

Membership Chairman

All of your efforts made a special birthday even more memorable.

IMITATION IS THE SINCEREST FORM OF FLATTERY TAKE A QUICK LOOK --- WHAT DO YOU SEE?BETTER LOOK TWICE....

By RAY KOZIOL

If you're like me, at first glance it looks to be a '57/'58 Cadillac Eldorado Brougham. Look a little closer and you will see a '57 Chevy! In actuality this is a 1957 Chevy known as the El Morocco. It was built by Reuben "Rube" Allender. He first introduced these cars in 1956 using off the line '56 Chevy Bel Airs. These were purchased new and converted to El Morocco's by his firm. For 1957 El Morocco production continued although this would be the final year of production. Exterior sheet metal changes and badging modifications are the only changes which differentiate the El Morocco from your run of the mill '57 Chevy, but those changes have a tremendous visual impact.

Powered by the venerable 283 Chevrolet V-8 and using standard Chevrolet running gear, the cost to the consumer for these conversions was about $1,000 over the cost of a standard Chevrolet. It was Allender's original intention to sell these through Chevrolet dealers. Unfortunately that plan didn't pan out. For 1956 approximately 20 were produced and for 1957, production totaled only 16, with only 10 of those being four door hardtops like the car pictured above.

Very few El Morocco's remain in existence today. There is only one 1956 convertible and six 1957s: two 4-door sedans, two 2-door sedans and two convertibles survive. As you might expect these cars are largely ignored by our Cadillac brethren, but among Chevrolet enthusiasts they are very, very valuable. Of the few that remain, those that have changed hands, have done so with values exceeding those of the cars which they imitate!

The blue four door pictured here was scheduled to be auctioned by Leake Auction Company at their Dallas, Texas auction which took place April 25 & 26, 2014.

RITA HAYWORTH'S GHIA-BODIED CADILLAC WINS POSTWAR BEST OF SHOW AT LA JOLLA CONCOURS

ARTICLE BY KURT ERNST, COURTESY OF HEMMINGS DAILY, APRIL 18, 2014 EDITION

Most men try flowers to make things right with their wife and get out of the doghouse, but when you're married to Rita Hayworth, you gotta try a little harder than that – after all, not even a one-of-two Italian-bodied Cadillac was enough to get her back. For the judges at this past weekend's La Jolla Concours d'Elegance, however, the same Cadillac had enough cachet to take a Best of Show award.

In the early 1950s, Italian coachbuilder Ghia looked to stabilize its business by developing concepts or vehicles for a list of automakers that included Volkswagen, Ford, Volvo, and Chrysler. Perhaps inspired by its success with Chrysler, the company constructed a pair of Cadillac-based concepts for the 1953 Paris Auto Salon, reportedly in an attempt to foster a closer relationship with Cadillac. Though technically not for sale, the concepts caught the eye of Prince Ali Salman Aga Khan, then billed as the richest man in the world. In the midst of a protracted divorce and custody battle with his wife, American actress Rita Hayworth, the prince (who favored the more common name of Aly Khan) purchased the Ghia-bodied Cadillac for Hayworth, perhaps as a peace offering. If that was his intent, the tactic failed; later the same year, the couple's divorce was finalized, and Hayworth retained both possession of the Cadillac Ghia and custody of her daughter.

Currently owned by the Petersen Museum, the Ghia concept relies on Cadillac Series 62 mechanical components, including its 210-hp, 331-cu.in. overhead valve V-8. It's said to be one of the first automobiles to employ a quad-headlamp design, and its diminutive tailfins speak of automotive styling trends that were in their infancy when the concept was penned. Among its many distinctive styling touches are the wraparound rear window (bisected by a thin trim strip), and surprisingly narrow A- and C-pillars. Finished in white during Hayworth's ownership, the car has subsequently been repainted burgundy, and even enjoyed a brief cameo appearance as one of Tony Stark's many automobiles in the 2010 blockbuster Iron Man 2. As for the other of the Ghia-bodied Cadillacs, when last we checked it was in the Imperial Palace's collection in Las Vegas.

You're Invited To The Piscataway July 4th Fireworks Celebration

For many years Piscataway has held a grand family style festival as an Independence Day Celebration. Beginning with your arrival at Piscataway High School around 6pm, a collector car display is held in a prime parking lot next to the stadium. Closer to the school is an area reserved for food vendors and kiddy rides. Interspersed are clowns. While awaiting darkness, there is entertainment in the Piscataway High School Stadium. The culmination of the festivities is a fireworks display second to none, and you will have a front row seat. As an added bonus the first 30 registered cars in attendance receive a nice gift.

Piscataway's Independence Day fireworks has been a tradition since time immemorial. If you like fireworks, and don't want to go to New York, Piscataway is the place to be. They have a lot of entertainment for children of all ages. For your convenience they also have snack vendors and food trucks. For the kids they have free kiddie rides, clowns with balloons, and clowns without balloons. While people are waiting for the fireworks, collector cars are gathered in one of the prime parking lots next to the stadium (that's us!). People normally start arriving around 6 pm just to get a good seat. As twilight darkens the flow of people increases.

Once the final vestiges of twilight have been extinguished from the summer sky, it is time for the main event. Piscataway's fireworks are first class. Prime parking gives us the prime vantage point for viewing. By the end of the show, you should have completely sated your pyrotechnical desires.

Important... This event is by invitation only, to participate please contact Bernie Cooney by phone (732)629-7544 or email dunbar53@optonline.net. There are no registration fees involved.

- ◆▶ Arrival time is between 6 or 7 pm ~ Departure time is after the fireworks, around 10:30 pm. ◀◆
- ◆▶ Although food vendors are there, it's not a bad idea to bring food and drinks. ◀◆
- ◆▶ Bring the whole family. As for Classic Cars.....All makes and models welcome! ◀◆

Directions... Piscataway High School is located on Behmer Road. From the SOUTH take your favorite highway to NJ 18. Behmer Road is marked by signs and a traffic light. Turn right, our parking lot is one the right just before the stadium. Parking attendants will move barriers for you.
